Please note: All outdoor services will require masks and social distancing. If you do not feel well, or you are otherwise concerned about health issues, please stay home! There will be a large canopy to protect a group of worshippers from sun, rain and birds. Outdoor services may be abbreviated, especially with weather issues. If there is member interest and weather permits, we may keep the canopy installed through the end of the holiday season, holding all services on the CSOA lawn. Selichot will be on Zoom, all other services will be livestreamed on both YouTube Live and Facebook Live, for those who are unable to attend in person. Bathrooms: There will be limited access to shul bathrooms, to reduce possible virus exposure. Please enter the building only one person at a time.
